

Clara

One day, Clara had a task and the task was she had to go to the VOLCANO OF DOOM! So, she went. It was a long way to get there. When she got there she thought it would be easy but she was wrong there was a blood red lava goblin and had punched Clara on the head! Soon she woke up and was hanging on the ceiling and was about to be roasted by the lava goblin!

Suddenly a blow of lovely warm wind sailed towards her. As soon as it touched her skin she fell into a dark pit
BANG...

Clara woke up and looked around she looked outside and saw lots and lots of plasma! She ran to the goblin and stabbed the beast with a whistling water sword and finally killed it. She put all the beautiful treasure into her pockets and ran to the Door!!!

But Clara couldn't get out because outside there was blood like lava and it was very hot! Silently, there was a cave that opened up and Clara was very curious! So she swiftly walked into the cave and saw lots of big spiders. She saw a light and she stepped into the light and saw land. She knew this land it was the land she first started with.

So she looked around and hopefully could remember how to get home. 6 months later... she came back to the PALACE and the king was extremely happy and let her keep half of the treasure!

Clara was a brave warrior and wanted peace but she didn't like killing or wars. She was fearsome but kind she could be happy but could be angry. Clara could be lovely. Clara had a dark green dress and had beautiful light blue eyes. Her hair was a hazel nut colour.

The volcano was like someone was sending you to your death. It had lava and mysterious things. It was gigantic and huge.

Only the bravest could survive.
It was like all hope had gone.
The lava was almost like blood.

The Lava goblin was a ugly fat half pig, and was extremely rude. He could crawl across the floor and had lots of different potions. He growled and sneered and did all that sort of stuff. It was gross and disgusting.

Verity ~ Evelyn

Verity ~ Evelyn knew that there was a task that she would have to do to become a proper Mermaid, but she didn't know that it would be this difficult! She had come all the way from Athens - in Greece - to the mysterious Echoes Isle in the middle of the Mediterranean Sea, just off the South Coast of the afore-said mainland of Greece.

She was sitting on the soft, sandy beach on majestic Mermaid Bay, silver, shining tails frolicked in the glistening waves as the Mermaids swam ashore; the Mermaids took out exquisitely carved flutes inlaid with precious jewels and opalescent pearls and began to play a melancholy tune. The Mer-Chief rose from the glittering waves. He was wearing robes that resembled so much the soft, turquoise waves that acted like paint on a brush being stroked onto the canvas by an experienced Artist painting a landscape. He spoke in a deep, reassuring, unctious voice even though Verity ~ Evelyn knew that he was about to set her a near-impossible task: "Hello, Verity ~ Evelyn, half-Mermaid and Mer-Princess of the Mer-Chief's household, but before you will be welcomed into the Mer-People's land, you will have to complete a task which will show your special skills, your perseverance, and your potential. You are to take the Pearl-tooth from the Sea Serpent of Serpent Sea to become a proper Mermaid. However, this challenge is not as simple as it may seem because you are not allowed to transform into a Mermaid until you come back to Mermaid bay."

Verity ~ Evelyn

So off she swam to the bottom of Serpent Sea to find the secretive Serpent and bring back the precious tooth. As she was swimming inbetween the slimy fronds of Seaweed she saw something flash in the murky water below her billowing Chiton. At first she thought that it was a Mermaid, but no, it couldn't be. It was too big ... and long ... and a crest of Peacock-like feathers topped it's gigantic head; it was the Sea Serpent and it was heading straight for her! Verity ~ Evelyn knew that she would have to take the tooth from the Sea-Serpent if she wanted to be a Mermaid, but she was running out of air, she had held her breath for five minutes, she had to transform into a Mermaid but she wasn't allowed to. She had to! The water was beginning to pound and scream in her ears, so Verity ~ Evelyn swam back up to the surface and back to the beautiful shore of Mermaid Bay - it was there that she realised how to complete her mission as she recalled the Mer-Chief's request ... "However, this challenge is not as simple as it may seem because you are not allowed to transform into a Mermaid until you come back to Mermaid Bay!" "Of course!" Exclaimed Verity ~ Evelyn, "I can transform into a Mermaid now!"

So again the intrepid explorer swam into the depths of Serpent Sea to the surreptitious Sea Serpent's lair, again it swam up towards her, and so the struggle for the Pearl tooth began...

The scary serpent slithered slowly towards Verity ~ Evelyn, and she swam towards the gargantuan Sea Serpent.

Verity ~ Evelyn

"Hello." Hissed Verity ~ Evelyn, she could talk to snakes! "Can I have your tooth please?"

Yes -ssss you can, when you have answered my riddle correctly!"

Sneered the Sea ~ Serpent. "Firstly, they're a type of imposter who doesn't want to be known, next, the fourth letter in the alphabet, and finally, the sound to be heard in the search for a hard to find word. Now put them together and riddle me this, what kind of creature would you not want to kiss?"

"Well," stuttered Verity ~ Evelyn uncertainly. "Well... Spy, d... erm... that's it! Spy, d, er, Spider! I would not want to kiss a Spider."

"Correct, now you may have my precious Pearl tooth." He took it out of his jaw and handed it to her. "Take it down to the Mer- Chief's palace and you will become a real Mermaid!" Said the Sea Serpent. "Thank you for helping me, I will come and visit you soon." Promised Verity ~ Evelyn, "and that's the truth!"

Alita

While war grew from an argument, a skilled young woman, Alita sat in the nest of her newly painted ship. She watched the blanket of blue foamy waves crashing against the rocks that parted her and the monsters that held her own father, the Serpents of the Bermuda Triangle. In Alita's mind she wanted to run to the front of the ship and set her course. Another part of her was thinking about what she was getting into. There was something inside that took over and she suddenly found herself heading to save her father. Alita knew what she needed, a trident located close but fairly invisible to the human eye.

As her ship slipped through the rocks scattered across the area the lights dimmed and a swarm of grey mist formed around her. The grey murky water crashed up against the razor sharp rocks. The mist snaked up the side of the boat trapping her long leather boots in place. Her silver stray hairs dancing in front of her face made her think of better days. As she approached the first ship wreck the winds cries faded into bloodcurdling silence. CRASH! A shiver ran up Alita's spine and wrapped around her like a thousand snakes slithering across her body.

She peered over the edge and all of a sudden.... a gargantuan serpent took her by the ankle, dragging her down to the bottom of the sea.

Alita struggled to breathe as she tried to escape but there was more coming. This surely was the end but Alita wasn't giving up yet. All went quiet as she calmed down saving her last breath. Suddenly a whisper in her ear told her "I give you the power to breathe!!" startled but faithful in the distant voice she punched the serpent while taking a deep breath. Alita pulled out her sharpest dagger and aimed for the vulnerable parts of the serpent. She soon realised no wounds appeared on the metal-like skin. In the corner of her eyes she saw an old man dressed in blue and black robes. Time stops in Alita's eyes and the old man instructed "Use the Serpent's teeth!"

"What?"

"Rip out the teeth and stab the serpent."

"How can I trust you?"

"I am Poseiden, now that's aside of the point!"

"Woah!"

"Oh just go!!" exclaimed Poseiden as a flash of light returned Alita to the present task. She darted towards the recovering creature. Alita grabbed hold of the two deadly, poison filled fangs, ripping them out as if it was the heart of the world's most feared. Suddenly the lifeless creature fell to the bottom of the grey murky sea.

Everything was silent as a look of relief spread across her young scared face. Alita swam to her ship climbing the side of the scratched wooden boards. When she stumbled onto the safe wooden cabin floor

Alita was confused at what she saw. Her dinner table was all set out and half eaten from. She ran out of the cabin to see... her father!!! He stood straight up, blue aqua eyes focused on his dearest love. Alita froze and without saying anything ran to her father and wrapped herself around him. She whimpered "How are y... you?"

"You killed the serpent, right?"

"Yee...h,"

"Well that's what set me free!"

"B..but I thought you need the trident?"

"No, no, no, I'll tell you on the way home," explained her father. So they set off hand in hand and spent all the time they had together.

Jane

1st.

One sunny morning, in the tropical, amazon forest lived Jane, the best explorer and animal tamer in the world. She lived deep in the amazon jungle in a village called tree top village where everyone lived happily in tree houses, they also lived in tree houses so land animals couldn't hurt them, most of them anyway. Jane whole name is Jane the amazing - she has this name because she has done amazing things to help people.

One day, when Jane was gardening her brother, Oliver came panting and running to her "Help! Jane we need your help!" "What's the problem?" she asked him, helping him up from his knees "A monster is planning to take over the world! We need you to go to the island and make sure that never happens!" "Ok I'll try, I'll be back in 3 days." So Jane set off on her way to monster island to stop the monster from taking over the world!

She took some supplies along with her brother, she took her brother in case she needed him. It took her 1 day to reach the island, as they reached the island they set up camp near the famous forest, she set off the next day to death desert.

Tare

She walked to death desert, a place where it's so hot it could melt your skin, luckily she wore a cloak to stop her skin from burning, finally she made ~~it~~ to the temple, the temple of the Golden scorpion. The scorpion was ~~like~~ a normal scorpion, but this one is the size of a house with a tail with venom that could kill a dragon. she carefully, slowly walked into the temple, finding the scorpion sleeping on a small pile of gold or in money £75.50p roughly, so she stole £50.50p she put it in a bag and quietly headed for the exit.

She was nearly out when she tripped over a large pebble that was in the middle of the entrance, suddenly the scorpion rose from the now very small heap of gold, the scorpion, seeing his gold stolen, charged at Tare with its mighty claws. She managed to dodge the claws and land safely on the ground, suddenly the scorpion stung her on the arm "Arrrrr" she screamed in pain, she fell to the ground in pain, the scorpion was charging and at the last ~~minute~~ <sup>minute</sup> she slung a sword into its mouth destroying its insides. She limped back to camp with a bag of gold on her shoulder, her brother was delighted to see her and with the gold they set off home to the forest. A day later she sadly died from scorpion

Writing Assessment

Your task is to write an Ancient Greek myth. Using the knowledge on myths and descriptive writing you have built up over the previous weeks, you need to create a story which features a range of sentence structures and language features to aid description to engage the reader. You need to include action and dialogue to help move the story forward.

Thousands of years ago on the island of Greece there lived the not only the most heroic man in Greece but the most heroic man in the world his name was Strike. He took part in every Greek fighting competition. Every time he won he bragged and bragged and said "I'm the most fearsome warrior in this extremely vast world."

Strike came across a letter that said his name on it. It said, Dear Strike my name is Minos the King all of the Cretan island. Please come to my court at 3.30pm don't be late or there will be <sup>consequences</sup> ~~consequences~~ involving a minotaur. I know you a great fighter so can you handle this nearly impossible quest. So I will see you in a hour to explain the quest.

Strike made his way to the palace. He got there at time 3.30pm exactly on time. The fearsome warrior Strike walked in the giant palace admiring the beautiful paintings on the white shiny wall. He saw the king named Minos he was delighted to see Strike was on time and Minos told Strike his quest.

Strike's quest was to get all the gold from a mine in the center of Greece. Strike thought it would be easy but then King Minos burst his bubble. A Chimera guarded the gold with its life. Strike walked away like it was easy but Strike knew it would be really hard.

So he set off on his journey. He had to cross the swamp of no return, the jungle of death, the cavern of bones and he finally arrived at the mine in the center of Greece. He walked in the mine more afraid than anyone or anything in the vast world. He got even more nervous by the second. SUDDENLY the Chimera leapt out of thin air when Strike would never expect it coming!

The Chimera was quarter Lion, quarter Snake, quarter Goat and quarter Cat. It scratched its <sup>razor</sup> sharp claws but Strike got a rope and tied the Chimera and stabbed him with his sword. So he happily went off to the King's palace but then Hades brought the Chimera back alive but he killed the Chimera again.

He found a little box he threw it on the floor and it turned into a fish. He touched the fish and it turned into the most powerful sword in the world and walked past the cavern of bones, past the jungle of death and past the swamp of no return and gave the gold to the King but walked home puzzled because the King had nearly all the gold in the world.

Using the knowledge on myths and descriptive writing you have built up over the previous weeks, you need to create a story which features a range of sentence structures and language features to aid description to engage the reader. You need to include action and dialogue to help move the story forward.

Once upon a time there was a girl named Olineovs. Olineovs has three sisters. Their family are quite poor. They have a king named Nenomeovs that rules their city. He was very cruel and rich. Her sisters loved the king however Olineovs didn't.

Their city was very big. The city had lots and lots of temples with her sisters love to run around. Their family love horses they have a lot of stables with-

One day a three headed lion invaded another city. Her king asked all the men in her city to go and defeat it. But Olineovs wanted to go and defeat it. Because her dad was going to defeat it.

So Oliveous dressed up as a <sup>man</sup> ~~man~~ without her mum knowing she ~~lost~~ left the house. With all the gear on. The sword in her hand her shield in her other hand not scared at all. No one noticed her walk down to fight. Half her body was telling her to go half wasn't. But it was too late now. One little stab and that is that.

After the war unsortably her dad died. Her mum survived but Oliveous died. The three headed lion also died. Oliveous was so glad to be back with her sisters. Also she was so excited to let her hair down.

A couple weeks after she received a letter. Because she survived she received lots of money. She became rich, so she could afford lots of food and have a feast, because she defeated the three headed lion.

Oliveous looked after horses when she was older. And started to do horse riding. And she said "I am going to do this for the rest of my life."

Delira and the Monstrous Mirrors.

Long ago, in ancient Greece, there was a city called Athens. It had been named after the mighty goddess Athena. In this city there was a girl named Delira who was 10 years old. Delira weaved baskets to sell. Even though women weren't supposed to fight, she practiced archery every day.

One day there was a terrible accident and the city walls were unguarded. Two of the most terrible creatures were unleashed into Athens. The mirrors. They stole farmer's animals and ate every human in sight. The people of Athens were warned not to go out.

Delira's brother hated her which might explain what he did. 'You aren't a warrior! You couldn't defeat the mirrors if you wanted to,' he said while arguing with her. She shouted she could and she would. She stormed out and headed towards the city walls. She walked past the guards and ran as far away from the city as she could. When she could no longer see the city she stopped and dropped to the floor. 'Here, have this. It's enchanted,' said a voice. It was Artemis, the Goddess of hunting and shepherds.

She handed Delira an enchanted bow. It shone like the very sun itself and, although it looked heavy, it was surprisingly light. As Delira turned to say thank you she heard a blood curdling scream. It came from a cave. A dark cave. A cave that made all other caves look welcoming.

Delira was struggling not to turn and run as she walked towards the cave. When she was inside the cave she saw it. The mirror. To her horror it picked up a head and started to eat it like an apple. Then she noticed there was only one Mirror. Where was the other?

Suddenly, Delira couldn't breathe. The other mirror had grabbed her by the neck. She had never seen a mirror up close. Its skin was made of blades and so were its teeth. It was so tall she was miles away from the floor. Its breath smelled like rotten milk. The lack of air and the stench of his breath must have knocked her unconscious because the next thing she knew she was at the foot of a mountain. Mount Olympus! Delira turned to face her foe. This could be the end. Why had she let her brother's harsh words get to her? She took the enchanted Bow and aimed a shot at the mirror furthest away. Perfect! It hit its arm. Now she'd got his attention she could fight properly. Suddenly, thousands of blades shot in her direction. She braced herself for impact.

She heard a deafening crack as a piercing light blinded her momentarily. What had happened? As she stared she saw that the mirror had exploded. Where was the other? She was thinking when a voice startled her. 'you must not return to Athens.' She didn't know why but she followed the advice all these years. She sat there till the day she died.

THE MAGICAL BRAID!

Once in a faraway land, was a girl called Chesnut she was sat under a willow tree. She loved anything ginger even her braid was ginger. She has a ginger jumpsuit with ginger sandals. She was a very cheeky and mischievous but she was loyal to all her friends. Her braid was given powers to keep her and lots of plants alive. Her parents are Orion and Artemis.

One day, Chesnut went for a walk to her dad's castle she heard a rustling in a bush near her. She stopped. The rustling got louder and louder and out jumped the world's most feared monster Draren. She is half dragon half siren with fox ears and tail. She had scissors in her hand. Draren went over to her and chopped her magical braid off and Chesnut fell to the floor. She screamed and her best friend (Perriwinkle) came to the rescue. She screamed as well and ran to Draren and tried to get the braid off her.

Draren rushed over to a bush and created a portal to her home the other side of the mountainous area of Athens. Chesnut got weaker and weaker and so did the plants and some dying off becoming extinct. So the two friends set off on a journey to the other side of Mount Athena.

They were traveling for two hours before they came across the mighty palace of Hephaestus and Aphrodite's castle. Hephaestus was outside planting flowers with his magic he noticed the two girls and gave them some magical Hair Spray that sticks things together that can't be stuck with glue. They asked where Aphrodite was and he said that she was out. Chesnut and Perriwinkle thanked him and carried on walking.

Chesnut was getting weaker and weaker by the second. They came to a lake and a cave they decided it would be best to stop there over-night. The lake belonged to the kind-hearted goddess Artemis (Chesnut's mum). When it was the morning the two girls carried on walking to find Draren.

They met Aphrodite she was wearing a coral blue dress with ten cm high wedges that were also blue. She has bluebell tucked behind her ear in her hair. Her hair was in a high ponytail it was also dyed blue as well. She gave Chesnut and Perriwinkle a magical hair brush that freezes things on the spot. The hair brush was a crystal blue with seashell glitter inside and its handle is turquoise with a grip. The girls were amazed and wowed of the beauty and love of Aphrodite.

They thanked her and carried on walking, they were so determined that they walked and climbed very quickly through the dusty rubble. Chesnut's cheekiness levels had dropped rapidly she was not showing any emotion but upset and depressed. They found Draren and froze her with the magic hair brush and they took the braid and glued it on with the hair spray. All they had to get back was hope.

The kid with eye of the ninja

Bash!!! As Kai smashes the board with his bare feet... Oh sorry before we carry on let me introduce you to Kai. Ever since he was a baby Kai wanted to be a ninja .He began training at the age of 4. Ok let's carry on.

exly.

"Wow you're really good!" said his friend.

"Thanks, but all you do is train, train and train then it will turn out to be easy. Now have a go- oh- wait ankle guards on- because judging from the last time you're going to need them."

"Ok but next time you don't need to judge." said Jude (Kai's friend, wait best friend.)

"Don't need to rage I know when I am not wanted."

"Oh my phone is ringing,"said Jude.

"Ok bye, better keep on training"said Kai. Kai left the garage and went inside as he heard mum shouting "Kai!Sophie !dad! dinner" shouted mum. "Coming!"answered Kai after a few seconds.Kai arrived at the kitchen and he gazed at the food and shouted, "YES!!!! spagehthi!!"Then he sat down and started to eat.

"Mum, do you think I will become a ninja when I grow up?"

"Only if you put enough effort into it,"replied mum softly. Kai finished his dinner as he thought about how great it will be to be a ninja. At this point he made decision to train hard every single day and that is exactly what he did.

Seven years later....

Invading Captain Sharp Tooth's lair ,with his leader Captain Joe and his friend Jude, Kai is going through the plans.

"Ok, Captain Joe said go round the back, take down the guards there, and climb up the wall. When we get to the roof we are to open the ninja tool kit, get the steel cutter and make a circular hole through the roof. We then swing down and meet the rest of the team and ambush them. As we know he has his evil robots ready. So we need to get rid of them first. Okay, let's do it."

So Kai and his partner followed the plan, met the rest of the team and got rid of the evil robots ,which was not an easy job but they fought hard. KABAM! POW! CRASH! BANG everywhere as Kai and his partner, Jude (his best friend) showed off their ninja skills. Kai's seven year training had paid off as they were able to defeat Captain Sharp Tooth and his robot army. When they had finished with him, Captain Sharp Tooth and his army were reduced to rubble. They had defeated their evil arch nemesis.

Kai , the kid with the eye of the ninja, had achieved his dream of being the greatest ninja, through hard work and determination.
